

Global Email marketing SaaS leader seeks a Production Executive

Emailvision, leader in “on-demand” software for email marketing automation, is looking for an Production Executive to join the successful Client Services/Production team in its London Office. We have a modern approach to work life and have a strictly work hard play hard philosophy.

The role will involve dealing with real client campaign production.

What you would bring to the party:

- Excellent team player, you are able to communicate/co-ordinate with clients and internal departments.
- A technical production role with strong opportunities for career development.
- An understanding of basic aspects of marketing and the desire to learn new skills quickly in a fast moving environment are also important.

Requirements include:

The role would include the following responsibilities:

- You will operate EMV’s Campaign Commander technology for our clients working in full service mode.
- You will be responsible for all campaign production tasks for our clients including data import/export/preparation, message creation, testing, post campaign analysis.
- You will also be responsible for webform production, micro-site construction and viral module production tasks writing to EMV database.

The position requires the following:

- Knowledge of CRM and emarketing strategies
- Understanding of Data Management & Data Handling procedures (incl. SQL language)
- Understanding + practical experience of basic HTML code/java script
- Knowledge of CRM and e-marketing strategies
- JSP helpful
- An insight into email marketing best practices
- Good communication skills
- Attention to detail and accuracy

In return, Emailvision offers an outstanding compensation package:

- Fix salary base: £20,000 p.a. (Increase to £22,000 p.a. after 3 months probation)
- Private health Insurance (after 3 months probation)
- A strong integration/training plan to allow you to perform quickly,
- A rapid career progression

If this sounds like a role for you and you want to advance your career within a fast-growing multinational software leader, email your CV and cover letter to jobsuk-ps@emailvision.com